DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5-12, 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim(s) 5 fail(s) to recite sufficient structural elements and interconnection of the elements to positively position and define: 1) how the support members and the lower plate form the front wheel-positioning groove; 2) how the through hole, support members and lower plate form the rear wheel-receiving compartments; 3) the two cutouts (with respect to what structure?) so that an integral structure able to function as claimed is recited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Creek et al. The patent to Creek et al teaches structure as claimed including a pallet comprising an upper side and an underside, the upper side of the pallet having a front end and a rear end, two rear wheel-receiving compartments (at where the reference numerals 70 and 72) being defined in the rear end of the upper side of the pallet and adapted to receive two rear wheels of a three-wheeled motorcycle, a front wheel-positioning groove (80) being defined in the front end of the upper side of the pallet and adapted to position a front wheel of the three-wheeled motorcycle, one through-hole (36) adapted to be extended through by at least one fork of a forklift for moving the pallet, the front wheel-positioning groove is defined in a central portion of the front end of the upper side of the pallet, the rear wheel-receiving compartments are respectively defined in two rear corners of the upper side of the pallet.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 4, 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Creek et al as applied to the claims above, and further in view of White. The patent to Creek et al teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above, the only difference being that the structure is not made of paper and does not include additional through holes. However, the patent to White teaches the use of providing a paper pallet and additional through holes to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Creek et al to include additional through holes and made of a different material, as taught by White since such structures are conventional alternative structures used in the same intended purpose, thereby providing structure as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5-12, 14-20 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Fish, Hanazato, Smith, Junge, Marron et al, Dunn, teach structure similar to applicant's.
